TEXT: Anderson's Business Law and the Legal Environment, Comprehensive Volume, the 24th edition, but the 23rd can be used (however be aware there are some key differences, primarily cases, but sometimes in content). Authors-Twomey, Jennings, Publisher-Thomson/South-Western.

DESCRIPTION OF THE COURSE: During the course of this class, we will explore many legal concepts. Don't worry! I understand you are not in law school. I will summarize the topics and give you the core concepts you need to understand for a business career as well as in your personal life. Some of the topics include: Judicial process, business enterprise as a legal entity, law of torts, contracts, negotiable instruments, agency, property, ethics and social forces, consumer protection, bankruptcy, insurance, and land use controls.

SUBJECT AREA AND COURSE CONTENT: This course is designed to introduce the college student to different aspects of the law. It is hoped that at the end of the course, you will have a workable understanding of law in the American business system and how individuals and organizations function within that legal system. Emphasis is placed on identifying the legal issues, outcomes, and reasoning of the legal issues studied. We will teach you how to examine issues and utilize evidence-based argument. This manner of thinking and writing will benefit you in other classes as well as in your future career.

I intend to present material consistent with current legal trends and the types of legal issues with students will most likely be confronted. MGMT 254 is taught as a common-curriculum course with several other professors with the goal that all students have a similar experience learning the content for MGMT 254. However, each section will not be identical. Your friends in a different section will cover the same material, but will learn it the context their professor prefers to utilize. The great news is you'll all learn how the law applies to a company from birth of idea to the death of the company.

Also, we have intentionally designed this class with a slightly larger work-load in the beginning and a lighter work-load in the end. We do this because we know that many classes work inversely. It's also easier to begin to understand the way the law works through immersion.

COURSE OBJECTIVES: In class, a variety of methods will be used. The course will include lectures, legal discussions, projects and assignments. However, you are expected to study each section of each chapter carefully, even though not every section will be covered in class. Also, there will be occasional outside reading assignments and projects.

GRADING: Each student earns his or her own grade. I see grades as feedback indicating how well you have done against my standards. Grades tell (at least to some degree) what has been learned. They are not the goal of learning.

The following represents the weight given to the different elements:

385 points	split evenly among seven quizzes (55 points each) (you will take eight quizzes, and the lowest one grade will be dropped). The quizzes will occur on Fridays online. The quizzes will open at 12:01 a.m. and close at 11:59 p.m. Once you start the quiz, you must complete it in the allotted time. The purpose of the dropped quiz is to give you grace if you are sick, technology fails, or this course cannot be your priority in any given week. We will not reopen quizzes for the above stated reasons.
110 points	Midterm October 10 th . This will be a closed-book exam administered in class. You must be present to take it. There are no online options for the exam. This is to give you practice for the final exam. It will cover chapters 34-37 plus some possible review.
210 points	on the comprehensive final exam that will be administered as scheduled during finals week. There are no online options for the exam. You must be present during the assigned time to take the exam unless you are quarantined. DO NOT purchase plane tickets before you know when your exam is scheduled. IF YOU ARE NOT PRESENT FOR THE SCHEDULED EXAM YOU WILL SCORE A ZERO.
180 points	from a group portfolio that will be turned in from in-class activities you will complete as a team.
55 points	Attendance will be taken at each class. Please see the attendance policy for further information.
60 points	participation in class or through discussion board posts.

GRADING SCALE*

Because Daniels School of Business requires a standardized curve, it is difficult for me to state with absolute certainty what grades will result in certain letter grades. Grade distribution is curved—i.e., each person's final class grade is determined by the overall distribution of scores during the semester. (For you statistics people, it is not a true curve - that is, it is not necessarily centered around the mean.) I follow the criteria provided by Krannert for undergraduate classes.

PARTICIPATION: To obtain full benefit from this course, you will want to attend each session and to read the required readings prior to class. You owe this to yourself and to your fellow students. In addition to the readings, you are strongly encouraged to bring current items of interest to class, whether from a business periodical or local paper. Students who get into academic trouble are those who regularly miss class and get behind on the pre-lecture videos. I will be noting participation on a class-by-class basis. When participation has been particularly outstanding, the final grade may be boosted somewhat, or if participation is below standard, the grade will be reduced. Hopefully, you will remember some of the issues we will discuss long after you've forgotten your grade.

Because class participation is very important to me, and hopefully, will be to you in learning the material covered in this course, regular class attendance is extremely important! However, if you are unable to attend because of quarantine or a similar circumstance, you will have the opportunity to complete all activities on your own. However, in that circumstance, please make sure you've read and understood the cases. Any questions can be emailed to me, and we can set up a virtual time to review your questions about the content.

Most weeks there will also be a discussion board. This serves two purposes:

- 1) If you participated in class, log your participation here. Logging your participation means stating how you contributed to the class. This includes answering questions, asking questions that contribute to the class's overall learning, or discussing a case. It could also be participation in portfolio exercises in class with your team. I will not guarantee that I will remember every comment or question. It is your responsibility to log that on the discussion board and help me remember your in-class participation. It will require three or more sentences to do this well.
- 2) You can also earn the week's participation points by posting an article with analysis of how it relates to the class content and answers a question you had, or adds to your understanding. This is a particularly helpful way to gain participation if you are sick or miss class for other reasons.

The article must be from a large paper or journal (WIKIPEDIA does not count) and related to the class content for that week. This allows you to show me how you are thinking about the content and relating it to current events or situations.

Here is an example that would earn full points:

The article I found can be accessed via The New York Times and depicts a recent surge of jobs throughout the United States. This source of job growth occurred in late October and resulted in roughly 261,000 new jobs in the United States. However, although unemployment has seen its lowest numbers since Bill Clinton held the reigns of presidency, many still believe a majority of U.S. citizens are underpaid. Economists do not believe the current wage growth is high enough to combat the inflation from year to year in the United States. As a result, a good portion of citizens do not view this job growth as enough, which has left an abundance of employees unsatisfied.

I chose this particular article because it reminded me of the conversations we had in class on Tuesday regarding the employer vs. employee relationship. As mentioned in class, each employee is guaranteed the right to compensation; however, this right to compensation does not necessarily mean the employee will be satisfied by the amount given to them, which can be seen in this article. Also, although this approach is not specifically mentioned in this article, we also discussed the possibility of employees forming unions, which could be a step employees take if their current wages are not changed in the near future. All in all, job growth can and should be seen as a positive in our country, but clearly, we must also place focus on wage issues. This article can be found via the following:

link: <https://www.nytimes.com/2017/11/03/business/economy/jobs-report.html>.

These are accessed through the discussion tab on Brightspace. Each article with analysis is worth up to 5 points. Not every week has a post, but all are in Brightspace.

QUIZZES: All quizzes will be completed on Brightspace. Each quiz will open on Friday at 12:01 a.m. and must be completed on Friday by 11:59 p.m. No quiz will require more than thirty minutes to complete. Most will give you 30 minutes to complete. Once opened in Brightspace, a timer will start. Also, you will not be able to backtrack to see past questions. Neither will you see more than five questions at a time. In addition, all questions and all answers will be randomized: i.e., no two students will have the same quiz. Cheating will not be tolerated. If you cheat, you will earn a zero on the course. Attempting to take the quiz with another student is cheating. Using AI to take the exam is cheating.

You don't need to use AI because it is open-book, open-note quiz. If you are actively engaged in class, and have done the course readings, I know you are more than capable of earning a great grade on the quizzes.

Quizzes will occur on the following Fridays, which are also listed on the course schedule below:

	24 th Edition	23 rd Edition
September 5	Quiz 1 - Chapters 1 & 2	Chapters 1 & 2
September 19	Quiz 2 - Chapters 38, 40 & 3	Chapters 40, 42, & 3
September 26	Quiz 3 - Chapters 46 & 48	Chapters 48 & 50
October 24	Quiz 4 - Chapters 11, 12, 13	Chapters 11 (chart), 12 & 13
October 31	Quiz 5 - Chapters 14, 15 & 16	Chapters 14, 15 & 16
November 14	Quiz 6 - Chapters 22 & 19	Chapters 22 & 19
November 21	Quiz 7 – Chapters 5 & 6	Chapters 5 & 6
December 5	Quiz 8 - Chapters 7 & 8	Chapters 7 & 8

You also have the following exams:

October 10	Midterm Chapters 33-37 An in-person exam taken during class.	Chapters 35-39
Final during finals week	We do not know the date. Do not purchase a ticket to fly home yet.	In person, comprehensive final exam.

It is your obligation to know when quizzes will be offered. As stated above, there are no make-up quizzes. Also note, the quizzes happen on Fridays, but not every Friday. Please take careful note of the dates now.

Chapters 9 and 24 (Products Liability in the 23rd edition) do not have a separate quiz, but will be incorporated into the final examination.

Because quizzes are taken online, they are open book, open note, however, Googling for answers is considered cheating. It is also ineffective. Because of the tight time given on the quizzes, you will not have time to find the answers during the quiz. Effective study techniques include: attending class, reading the chapters, watching the prelecture videos, and reviewing the slides. There are many materials to help you succeed. Each professor also has office hours as well as the teaching assistants have office hours. Our goal is for you to succeed in this course if that is your goal. Don't wait until the twenty minutes before the quiz to prepare.

Also, because we use Respondus Lockdown Browser during the quiz, you will not be able to have an ebook up on the device that you are using to take the quiz. There simply is not a good way to give you access to it. However, you may have it up on a second device if you choose to use an ebook. However see the note above that Googling answers is cheating and will result in a zero. It is also ineffective.

Also note you will have the opportunity to take 8 quizzes. Only your top seven quizzes will count in your grade. Your lowest quiz grade will be automatically dropped at the end of the semester. Thus, if you are sick or need to focus on another course in a given week, you may choose to not take the quiz in that week or take it knowing if the grade is low, it will be dropped. If you have a technology issue like dropped Wi-Fi in your apartment or residence hall, that quiz will be the dropped quiz. All quizzes can be taken on the computers in the Krannert and Rawls computer labs if you have connectivity concerns.

CLASS PROCEDURES: Quizzes cannot be made up for any reason; these are really indicative of student preparation. Because one quiz will be dropped from the total grade, I do not anticipate allowing make-up quizzes. But, as in any area of law, there are exceptions (i.e., a doctor extends a quarantine and you are unable to prepare and take the quiz due to illness). I do not enjoy preparing make-up quizzes. To be fair to people taking the quiz at the required times, the make-up quiz will be harder and more specific. Before a student will be allowed to take a make-up quiz, he or she must notify me and provide a reasonable excuse before the regular quiz has been given.

Any outside reading assignments will be assigned in class. The instructor reserves the right to alter any aspect of the information given in this syllabus.

HONORS CONTRACTING: If you are an Honors student and would like to make this an Honors section to receive Honors credit, you must reach out to me or Professor Cara Putman (cputman@purdue.edu) the first week of the course. Usually, an additional short legal paper of approximately 8-10 pages is the required project. However, I am open to discussing options with you. Just remember the paperwork to contract the course must be submitted by 5 p.m. on the second Friday of the semester. You can find the process here: <https://honors.purdue.edu/current-students/honors-courses/contract-courses/index.php>

ATTENDANCE POLICY: UNDER PURDUE POLICY This course follows Purdue's academic regulations regarding attendance, which states that students are expected to be present for every meeting of the classes in which they are enrolled. Attendance will be taken at the beginning of each class and lateness will be noted. You are allowed FIVE (5) unexcused absences across the semester. After that, absences will affect your grade. Each additional absence will be worth 10 points off the total 50 points. Consider this your PTO, and you are using it up with each absence. Use it wisely. Yes, attendance is that important to me. Research shows you learn better when you're in the class.

Excused absences: However, I will grant excused absences in certain circumstances, particularly when the absence is related to university approved grief-absences, university approved activity, or job-related activity (interview, career fair, etc.).

If you have an excused absence (ie. University-sponsored event, sickness with a doctor's note, etc.), you need to email it to me the week of the absence with appropriate documentation. For example, emailing on Friday morning that you will not be able to attend class on Friday because you are sick is not an excused absence or emailing on Monday morning that you will not be able to attend class on Monday because you are visiting family is not an excused absence.

When conflicts or absences can be anticipated, such as for many University-sponsored activities and religious observations, the student should inform the instructor of the situation as far in advance as possible. For unanticipated or emergency absences when advance notification to the instructor is not possible, the student should contact the instructor as soon as possible by email or phone. When the student is unable to make direct contact with the instructor and is unable to leave word with the instructor's department because of circumstances beyond the student's control, and in cases falling under excused absence regulations, the student or the student's representative should contact or go to the Office of the Dean of Students (ODOS) website to complete appropriate forms for instructor notification. Under academic regulations, excused absences may be granted by ODOS for cases of grief/bereavement, military service, jury duty, parenting leave, or emergent or urgent care medical care.

If you must miss class at any point in time during the semester, please reach out to me via Purdue email so that we can communicate about how you can maintain your academic progress.

MANAGING THE COURSE TOOLS FOR BRIGHTSPACE: I highly recommend that you download and use the Brightspace Pulse app to manage this and your other courses. It is available on the Google Play and Apple App stores. You can find more information here:

<https://documentation.brightspace.com/EN/brightspace/requirements/all/pulse.htm>.

In addition, I highly recommend you turn on notifications for the Brightspace page. Here are some good instructions for doing that:

<https://www.vanderbilt.edu/brightspace/for-students/how-do-i-manage-my-notifications-2/>

Late Work:

Late work will not be accepted except for exceptional circumstances. A best practice for this and all of your classes is to take the time at the beginning of the semester to sit down with your favorite calendar and enter all due dates. Quiz dates, discussion board posts, and business simulation due dates are all posted in this syllabus and on Brightspace now. The course is fully loaded and shouldn't change absent a tragedy. We do this to enable you to plan at the beginning of the semester. You also have one quiz and one discussion board post that drop from your overall grade for when life happens or technology fails. This all provides a buffer for if you get sick or your other classes need to take a priority. That happens and we have planned some slack into the class for you. In those circumstances, you do not need to reach out to us. This is also why we have no tolerance for late work. Exceptions will be extremely rare and will almost certainly be circumstances you have no control over. If you feel you fit in an exception, it will behoove you to contact me as soon as possible to explain your circumstance and propose an alternative. Do not wait until the end of the semester. Issues with your group submissions, such as a member forgetting to submit the assignment on behalf of the group, is not considered a circumstance beyond your control. Your Team Rules should be used to manage any group conflicts.

Artificial Intelligence Policy and Restrictions

For all the writing assignments in this course you may use the standard Microsoft word program that checks for Spelling, Grammar and writing issues. You may also use Grammarly. These are a type of Artificial Intelligence program that will help you produce more professional writing and are encouraged. However, you are not allowed, for any assignments in this course, to use any other Artificial Intelligence based programs that create written content with one exception listed below. Absent that exception, if you use AI-generated writing for any portion of their written assignments, that will be deemed in violation of the academic integrity expectations for this course. Violations can include a failing grade for the course and restrictions from further class attendance. All suspected incidents of academic dishonesty will also be referred to the Office of Student Rights and Responsibilities for further review of the student's status with the University, which may include being separated from the University.

Assignment	Spelling and Grammar Checks/Grammarly	ChatGPT & other AI Tools
Discussion Board posts	Allowed	Not allowed because these posts are designed to show your thoughts and reflections. That can't be done if it's AI generated.
Non-Compete Contract Assignment	Allowed	Allowed, but you must highlight any content in the contract that was generated by the chatbot or other AI tool. This allows me to determine what part you and your team generated versus what parts were created by the AI tool. You also must provide the prompts that you used to generate any content as an appendix to the assignment.
Sales Contract Assignment	Allowed	Allowed, but you must highlight any content in the contract that was generated by the chatbot or other AI tool. This allows me to determine what part you and your team generated versus what parts were created by the AI tool. You also must provide the prompts that you used to generate any content as an appendix to the assignment.
Other Business Simulation Assignments	Allowed	Not Allowed because many of these assignments are applications of what you are learning to the company you have created. However, if you believe there is a situation where the use of AI tools will allow you to make a more nuanced and deeper contribution to the assignment, you may have that conversation with the professor first. If you use AI without first talking to the professor, you risk a violation of this policy and a Honor Code violation.

Students with disabilities whose DRC Course Accommodation Letter (CAL) includes test accommodations must first release their CAL to me and then schedule to take their exams with Purdue Testing Services at <https://www.purdue.edu/studentssuccess/testing-services/accommodated-testing/student.php>. You must schedule at least four days (96 hours) before the exam date listed on the syllabus.

In the case of finals week, you must schedule by the Friday before quiet period. I will provide Purdue Testing Services with your exam, and they will proctor it and provide the result to me for grading. Students must inform me immediately of cases when Purdue Testing Services is at capacity or otherwise unable to proctor the exam so that I can make other arrangements. Students who fail to follow this process and meet stated deadlines risk not being able to have their accommodations for that exam.

Please consider that sarcasm and humor can be misconstrued in online interactions and generate unintended disruptions. Working as a community of learners, we can build a polite and respectful course ambience. Please read the Netiquette rules for this course:

- Do not dominate any discussion. Give other students the opportunity to join in the discussion.
- Do not use offensive language. Present ideas appropriately.
- Be cautious in using Internet language. For example, do not capitalize all letters since this suggests shouting.
- Avoid using vernacular and/or slang language. This could lead to misinterpretation.
- Keep an “open-mind” and be willing to express even your minority opinion.

- Think and edit before you push the “Send” button.
- Do not hesitate to ask for feedback.

Basic Needs Security: If you ever face challenges meeting your basic needs — like food, housing, transportation, healthcare, childcare or access to technology — Purdue can help. Contact the Office of the Dean of Students to seek help with immediate needs and support on campus. Visit www.purdue.edu/odos or email odos@purdue.edu. The Purdue Basic Needs Program connects students with off-campus resources and provides one-on-one basic needs consultation. Visit them at www.purdue.edu/studentsuccess/basicneeds or email basicneeds@purdue.edu.

Emergency Preparation: In the event of a major campus emergency, course requirements, deadlines and grading percentages are subject to changes that may be necessitated by a revised semester calendar or other circumstances beyond the instructor’s control. Relevant changes to this course will be posted onto the course website or can be obtained by contacting the instructors or TAs via email or phone. You are expected to read your @purdue.edu email on a frequent basis.

See Purdue’s Information on Emergency Preparation and Planning. This website covers topics such as Severe Weather Guidance, Emergency Plans, and a place to sign up for the Emergency Warning Notification System. I encourage you to download and review the Emergency Preparedness for Classrooms document.

Violent Behavior Policy: Purdue University is committed to providing a safe and secure campus environment for members of the university community. Purdue strives to create an educational environment for students and a work environment for employees that promote educational and career goals. Violent Behavior impedes such goals. Therefore, Violent Behavior is prohibited in or on any University Facility or while participating in any university activity. See the University’s full violent behavior policy for more detail.

Course Evaluation: Toward the end of this semester, you will be provided with an opportunity to give feedback on this course and your instructor. Purdue uses an online course evaluation system, and I will not have access to this anonymous feedback until after final grades are submitted. You will receive an official email from evaluation administrators with a link to the online evaluation site and will receive a prompt to complete the survey when you login to Brightspace. The subject line will be: Please take 2-5 minutes to complete the survey. Check your “Junk E-mail” folder occasionally to be sure the evaluation emails were not accidentally routed there. Your participation is an integral part of this course, and your feedback is vital to improving education at Purdue University. I strongly urge you to participate in the evaluation system.
